game.HOW THE THOMAS GOT ON THE REEFWAS ALMOST READY TO DROP ANCHORS AND HER ENGINES WERE ACTUALLY REVERSED.The transport Thomas, Captain Lynnam, arrived in port yesterday afternoon and docked about 6 o'clock. She was from Manila. She sailed for San Francisco at noon today, and will arrive there next Saturday evening or Sunday morning. On the voyage out the Thomas got aground on a reef going into the harbor at Guam.The transport Thomas touched the reef just two or three minutes before she was to have dropped her anchors at the moorings at Guam. It was early in the morning of Thursday, July 5.
She had been steaming up the channel for two miles under a stow bell. The sun was just up and shone full in the face of Captain Lynam as he stood on the bridge, making it difficult to distinguish buoys or marks, and impossible to detect shoals or reefs from the appearance of the water. The transport had come within about three ship's lengths of her moorings. She was barely moving and the engines had just been reversed to swing her into place to drop her anchor. There are reefs on both sides of the channel, but in coming up the channel Capt. Lynam with the sun in his eyes had been unable to distinguish the colors and marks on the buoys and in seeking to keep off the reef on the port bow where the buoy that usually marks it was gone, had got a little too far to the starboard at a point where that reef juts into the channel beyond the line of the two buoys that mark its position. Thus while the transport was barely moving forward, and while the engines were actually reversed and while the lead a moment before had shown ten fathoms and no bottom, she touched the reef just about the foremast. It was so gentle that no one on the vessel felt it, and only the officers on the bridge knew that the vessel was aground.Captain Lynam says that had there been any motion in the water, his engines would have gotten him off instantly. But the water was as smooth as a mill pond. It was just as the tide had turned to go out. The tide was at its highest, but receding, so that every moment made the vessel faster on the reef.Governor Poole, and the officers of the naval ship Supply offered their assistance. Captain Lynam's plan was, after lightening the forward part of theSUICIDE WAS LONG
PLANNEDCHARLEY BISHOP'S LAST WORD TO A FRIEND IN HONOLULU MAILED JULY 30.The Doric mail brought indications that the suicide of Charley Bishop was long premeditated. In fact it would seem almost that he might have timed it so that it would occur just as the mail arrived here, for he killed himself about the time his last message did arrive. It was merely a "sincerely yours" to Harry Armitage, Bishop's friend and business agent, and it was mailed in Seattle on July 30, ten days or so before the suicide took place.
Bishop didn't write any letter. On the back of a recent photograph of himself taken in Seattle he wrote "sincerely yours, C. H. Bishop," and beneath it "To Harry." The photograph is enclosed in black cardboard, a fact which may or may not be significant.The following message was received by Armitage last night, in reply to a cabled inquiry he made:

"Oakland, August 10.

"To Armitage, Honolulu.
"Charles H. Bishop suicided today body to be cremated some of the family here."

"I. H. CLAY."

Clay is the Exalted Ruler of the Oakland Lodge of Elks.
Bishop's suicide is attributed by his friends here to family troubles, which had greatly bothered him for many years.SONOMA MADE

Honolulu.Among those arriving for this port was Assistant Paymaster B. H. Brooks wife and child. He succeeds paymaster I. T. Hagner at the naval station.
W. G. Hall returned for a visit to his former home.A. Lyle returned from a trip to the HILO'S NEW JAIL.

High Sheriff Henry received word by the Kinohi from Jailer Maby, of Hilo, that the new jail there is finished, all but the plumbing. The tenants have not yet moved in, but Maby will move them soon.

DINNER TO KUHIO

No definite steps have been taken as yet in regard to the dinner to be given Delegate Kuhio by the Merchants Association according to George W.
Smith. Dinner will be given but when and where has not as yet been decided. The matter will be decided during the early part of next week.ship, to carry his anchors back sixty or seventy fathoms one on each side of the ship, drop them and thus with his winches get a purchase to assist his engines in backing off. In addition he wanted the Supply brought alongside, how to stern and made fast, so as to get the full force of her engines. The cargo of the Thomas was hay and it took a long time to shift it, some of it being put aboard the Supply. Finally all these arrangements were completed, and at high tide about six o'clock Sunday morning, July 8, the Thomas was brought off without difficulty or the slightest damage and after only a few minutes work of the engines.Captain Lynam is hearty in his praise of the effort and cooperation of the officers and crew in all departments.
The engines were handled in a masterly manner. The men of the engineer's department as well as those of the Steward's department volunteered to handle cargo and did, besides doing their own work. The steward's department in addition to this extra work fed eighty laborers from the shore who were brought aboard to handle cargo. The cost incurred in getting the Thomas off was about $300.
In all Captain Lynam's long service as a master of vessels this is the first time any vessel he commanded touched bottom.

MATCH THE COLD

There is something about a cold that is more troublesome than any other illness. Frequently a simple cold in the head develops grippe and from that more serious illness arises. The slight indisposition should receive prompt attention. Anti-Grippe Tablets will effectually knock a cold and do it quickly. Nothing else will bring such prompt relief. Hobron Drug Co.

ADMIRAL LYON.

VALLEJO, August 2.—The popularity which Rear Admiral H. W. Lyon has attained at the Mare Island yard as commandant during the first days of his administration of the yard, by reason of the employees under him, does not show any signs of diminishing.
Particularly pleasing to the employees of the steam engineering department on Mare Island was the order which was received today, which restored the old custom of blowing a large steam whistle of the plant as a signal for starting and quitting time. Until a year ago this whistle was blown, but the custom was ordered stopped. The men at the shop were unable to hear the yard bell ringing, so were generally put to considerable inconvenience by being late for the ferry-boat.

SAFE FROM EARTHQUAKES.

Professor F. Omori, the seismic expert of the Japanese Government, is a through passenger on the S. S. Doric.
He has been in California studying the effect of the earthquake in that state.
He expressed the belief that that portion of California would not have another earthquake for at least 30 years, and certainly nothing of
